

THE FURNITURE

In my experience men and women's opinions seem to differ when it comes to sofas. That all important piece of furniture proves to be divisive when couples decide to cohabit. Endless girlfriends tell stories of 'the leather sofa', a symbol of bachelorhood stuffed with memories that their men still cling to like a safety blanket. Possibly, the answer is going to choose a new one together? Try Nuttall in Chelsea whose hand-made sofas have a strong English aesthetic, constructed using European craftsmanship and Loro Piana fabrics. The spluttering-inducing price is definitely worth a lifetime of comfy sitting and no more 'leather sofa' rows.
